ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN CONSULTATION:

American Samoa -

Served as design consultant for a new forensic psychiatric unit in Pago Pago.

Colorado -

Dr. Dvoskin served as design consultant for the state's new forensic psychiatric hospital; a design that combines a sense of privacy and dignity among patients without sacrificing the visibility needed for staff to maintain safety.

Delaware -

Dr. Dvoskin served as design consultant for the new forensic wing of the state's psychiatric hospital.

District of Columbia -

Dr. Dvoskin served as consultant to two Federal Receivers, and the Commissioner of Mental Health, in a variety of areas. These included an assessment of the number of beds needed and a Capital Plan for the entire DC Mental Health System. Dr. Dvoskin served as design consultant for the creation of a new Saint Elizabeths Hospital, to replace the entire civil and forensic hospital campus. The design of this facility, which is now under construction, included an innovative consumer advisory panel, facilitated by Dr. Dvoskin, which had input into every phase of the project's design.

Florida -

Dr. Dvoskin served as consultant to the Commissioner of Mental Health, including consultation on the physical plants of forensic and civil psychiatric hospitals.

Dade County, Florida - Consultant on the capital renovation and program development for a new community forensic facility for Miami and Dade County, Florida.

Georgia -

As part of a federal class action, plaintiffs and defendants agreed to ask Dr. Dvoskin to assess suicide hazards at six of Georgia's large state prisons, resulting in cost-effective, potentially lifesaving physical plant changes to rooms in which suicidal inmates were housed.

Hawaii -

Hawaii Department of Health -- Architectural Design Consultant for new forensic building at the Hawaii State Hospital

Idaho -

Idaho Department of Corrections – Consultant to creation of a 300-bed mental health unit.

Louisiana -

Again, at the request of plaintiffs and defendants, Dr. Dvoskin performed a comprehensive assessment of suicide hazards in the state's juvenile correctional facilities.

Maine -

Dr. Dvoskin served as consultant on the physical plants of a psychiatric hospital serving civil and forensic patients.

Maryland -

Dr. Dvoskin served as consultant to the Commissioner of Mental Health, including consultation on the physical plants of forensic and civil psychiatric hospitals.

Michigan -

Dr. Dvoskin assisted the state of Michigan, which was involved in constitutional litigation regarding its prison mental health system, in creating a MH care system within the Department of Mental Health. He also served as design consultant for new beds added to a state forensic psychiatric facility.

Michigan Department of Corrections – Acute Inpatient Mental Health Facility

Missouri -

Missouri Department of Mental Health – Architectural Design Consultant on 300 bed Secure Forensic Hospital to replace existing buildings at the Fulton State Hospital. This project was selected to receive the Distinguished Award for Architecture from the St. Louis Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, and a National Healthcare Design Award from the American Institute of Architects.¹

New York -

As part of his duties as Associate Commissioner of Mental Health for the state of New York, Dr. Dvoskin oversaw design of major renovations to Mid-Hudson Psychiatric Center, a 300-bed forensic psychiatric hospital in Middletown, NY. Completion of this project resulted in significant reductions in violent incidents.

North Carolina -

Consultant to architectural renovation of forensic unit at Broughton State Hospital.

Consultant to Disability Rights North Carolina to assess safety and security of the new Central Regional Hospital.

Oregon -

Oregon Department of Corrections – Architectural improvements to Secure Mental Health Treatment Unit at Oregon State Penitentiary.

Oregon Department of Corrections – Consultant to creation of a large correctional complex, including a mental health unit, in Junction City, Oregon.

Puerto Rico -

Dr. Dvoskin served as design consultant for a new correctional psychiatric center, which cost less than renovation of the existing building, which was the basis for a finding of unconstitutional conditions.

Texas -

Harris County, Texas - Consultant to the Harris County Sheriff's Office on the construction of a new jail in Houston, Texas.
